

From: [REDACTED]
To: abortionlawreform
Subject: Is abortion really necessary?
Date: Friday, 17 June 2016 11:54:01 AM

---

Dear Committee Secretariat

It has come to my attention that a new Bill is in front of you for consideration. And I am shocked that such a Bill not only would be brought into Parliament, but also how quietly it had been done.

I believe a lot of people are not even aware of it. I am only a simple woman, but it surprised me, that clever people would even consider to go the way of killing babies who can live if they were born. Everyone I talked to about it is outraged.

I ask you why can't we make it easier for Australian couples to adopt an Australian child who is not wanted?

Can't we give these women, who find themselves in this situation that they feel they can't have the baby other ways than killing these babies?

I think of all the money the government put into vitro fertilization programs and other programs like it. Is it not an irony we deal with related problems in such a topsy turvy way?

Also have doctors not taken an oath to preserve life?

How can they then be forced to take the life of innocent babies, who could live if born naturally?

And how come that only 6 people are given this monumental decision to recommend for the rest of all Queenslanders?

There are many more questions like these ones I would like to ask, too many to put all forward and I am sure a lot of people would too if they only knew about this Bill.

Please consider with all diligence not only the loud voices who want to be less than Democratic, but also the rest of Queenslanders.

I ask you to think that if it was your child or grandchild would you not want to let it live, grow up and be a part of our great State?

Yours sincerely

Silvia Molenaar

[REDACTED]