I am writing in horror at the time money and most importantly the utter disrespect for life that some people have. We live in a blessed country that has every support needed to us when a surprise pregnancy happens. Even if the baby has medical problems we have all the care and support needed to walk through any trial we face as woman. Take a look are a six week old baby in the womb, see and hear the heart beat and then decide. Be in the room and see the trauma that needs to be healed after life is taken from the body. I now of many woman who have not healed turn to substances to numb the pain. Can you say to yourself you did not deserve to live of have a chance at life. What makes you so special...to then unborn babies do not deserve a chance at life. In black and white terms you think you are God to believe you have the power to push this...I am praying for you...You will be accountable by God
