Greetings,

We ask you to consider that all medical scientists, all over the world, agree that life begins at conception. Even those who are strongly in favour of abortion also agree that life begins at conception.

A second consideration is why is it that no time limit is being proposed, so that “partial birth abortion” could well become the law in Queensland? A glance at a sonogram will show a baby desperately trying to get away from the source of his or her pain during such inhuman procedures.

A third consideration is why will you not allow those well-trained, and difficult-to-replace, professional doctors, nurses and even administrative personnel, to refuse in conscience to take part in such inhuman procedures?

We protect animals, reptiles and trees, so why won't we protect innocent babies?

Yours sincerely,
Francis and Kim Ribeiro
