To whom it may concern

I am writing to express my opposition to the proposed abortion law reforms. As far as I can see, the law, if passed, will allow the abortion, i.e. murder, of helpless unborn children right up to birth. That in anyone's language, whatever your views are on life and death, has to be wrong. If passed, what about a doctor who refuses to perform an abortion on conscientious grounds? Will he or she be breaking the law and therefore be punished?

I ask you to not allow this draconian law to proceed.

Keith Dean.
