I do not believe taking an innocent humans life is the correct answer to any problem faced by another human.
To Legalise this option is not helping the hurting mother or the defenceless life.

As a contributing member of this society I would like my opinion to be known.
Laws that are made and enforced by Australian Government should support moral practises that build community. All of these need to serve and protect its members, including those not yet born.
Countries and governments were once established on the proven truths and moral standards of the bible.
I question what benefits there are to a country that encourages community and family to deviate from this Book.
Mothers need help with alternative options. Mothers should not be given permission to kill.
