Dear Committee,

I would like to express my concern about the proposed abortion legislation that would allow abortion to birth for any reason. I am strongly against this, as there is a wealth of evidence that a baby is a living being within the womb, and any abortion of an unborn baby is comparable to murder, even with a so called "valid" reason.

This does not trivialise the immense emotional distress that many women face in making this decision, but that does not make a killing unborn babies the right thing to do.

I would strongly support greater counselling systems to be set up to help women in these decisions.

Sincerely,

Peter.
