I was horrified to read about the proposed changes to the abortion laws.

Firstly, I do not support abortion at all. However, we have current laws and I can only address these proposed changes. Nevertheless, because a proposal becomes law it does not make it morally right.

Abortion is murder and can adversely affect the health of the mother. Mothers who have never lost a child by spontaneous abortion do not know of the sorrow and depression that this loss can bring. It can go on for years. I wonder if doctors in offering abortion as a solution to pregnant women ever advise that abortion is not a quick fix to a problem. It is something I doubt they ever get over.

There is also the possibility of breast cancer that can be brought on by termination of a pregnancy.

I wonder too if anyone ever considers the mental health of the doctors and nurses who are asked to perform these procedures.

There has been much talk of the 'stolen generation' in recent times but do we ever consider that more precious lives are taken through abortion.

Any abortion is morally wrong and carries harsh personal consequences. These new amendments that give consent to killing babies no matter the age prior to birth is a proposal I strongly object to as wrong and ask you not to support it.
