To Whom it May Concern,

I understand that it's possible changes will be made to the abortion laws in Queensland. I've also heard/read arguments about the woman's right to choose what happens to her body & that she should be able to choose whether to have an abortion or not.. for convenience sake, she doesn't want a baby, doesn't fit with her lifestyle, changed her mind etc.

What about the baby's right to live? At any other stage of development, deliberately killing a human being, is seen as murder - I fail to see the difference between taking a life in utero to taking a life outside the womb - either way, when a life has been taken, it's still a life that is ended.

I would ask that the Queensland Laws uphold the rights of those who don't have a voice - the babies - they have a right to live. I disagree with abortions on demand - the babies have a right to live and, if not convenient for the mother, the babies have a right to be adopted out to someone who is wanting a child to call their own.

Please protect the unborn babies. If those who have the power to do so, won't, who will?

Kind regards,

Heather Kwan
