To all concerned with making this decision,

I urge you all to think about life and how precious it is. So many couples hurt when they go through the process of being told they cannot have children of their own, so they try to adopt. If a woman decides that she does not have room in her life for a baby, then adoption is a much better option than abortion. Aborting a child is bad enough, but legalising it so late in the process is just awful. Throwing a child into the rubbish bin as medical waste, is something I just can't understand. Please rethink changing the laws.

Thanx,
Trina Richmond.
