Sir,

I write to express my wife's and my great concern about the forthcoming proposed legislation that has been submitted by Rob Pyne. It has been bad enough that the existing legislation on abortion has not been policed properly, but this is a whole new dimension. One abortion a year is too much but my understanding is that some 15,000 to 20,000 abortions are being carried out in Queensland mainly funded from taxpayers funds through Medicare.

Life is sacred and abortion is, plain and simple, murder. We urge the Queensland government to ensure that this appalling piece of legislation will not come into law and, furthermore, to ensure that the existing legislation is properly policed and enforced.

Yours faithfully,

George and Maren Lee
