Good afternoon,

I'm writing to respectfully oppose the proposed legislation which would allow abortion up until birth for any reason.

I believe that life begins at the moment of conception, and to terminate a life in it's infancy is an act of murder.

That aside, the physical and emotional risks to mother when terminating a life at that late in a pregnancy are high and not worth taking. Many women experience negative psychological effects after an abortion, including but not limited to feelings of grief, doubt and regret.

Babies are actually surviving abortion procedures, further proving that life exists inside the womb, not just after the moment a baby is born.

By allowing this legislation to continue, we are saying who we are as a state and as a nation. That we believe that it's ok to end life before it's even really begun.

I urge you to consider my request and the requests of others more eloquently stated, of why this legislation should not move forward.

Yours sincerely,
Steffany Willis
