To whom it may concern

To me there is no way around the fact that babies in the womb are small humans. We cannot kill a human. It is unacceptable in any other context. These humans have heart beats and brains and can feel. They become healthy, whole, 'normal' little people outside the womb with support - how is it possible that they can be killed?! We would consider killing a baby that has been born as a horrendous crime. I cannot see how this is any different. Please DO NOT make this legal.
