Hello,

I am opposed to any changes to Queensland's adoption laws that would allow single persons or same gender couples to legally adopt children.

We owe it to our children to give them the best start in life and the best way to do that is by placing them with adoptive male and female parents.

As you know, there is no shortage of childless male/female couples wanting to adopt children. Let's not waste time trying to disadvantage children by placing them in less than satisfactory surroundings.
