TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

We strongly oppose this second abortion bill being presented to parliament.

Why do the people elected by the people of Australia continue to pursue their own agendas, despite being told (already) by those who voted for them that this bill is against all they believe best for the health of Australians. Does anybody consider the repercussions further down the track? We have enough mental health issues in this country as it is. Do you honestly think that one can take a life and have no feelings of regret or guilt either at the time or later in life?

This back-door method of achieving the result some sections of the community desire is dishonest.
