Subject: Exclusion of unvaccinated children from childcare Bill 2013
Date: Wednesday, 3 July 2013 8:56:59 PM

I have only one thing to say about this and that is, that it is against one's human rights to be forced to undergo a medical procedure for ANY reason. Whose idea was this draconian piece of legislation, the giant vaccine manufacturers who have so much power that it's frightening?! The vaccine industry preys on fear, in my opinion, and in my experience, those people who avoid vaccines are intelligent and very well researched on the subject, especially in regards to negative side effects. We have an elderly family member and an elderly friend who have permanent heart muscle damage after serious reactions to flu vaccine. What the public are not told is an outrage, and the fact that millions of dollars in compensation for vaccine damage, have been paid out to people in the USA, should speak for itself. You cannot have legislation like this, targeting non-vaccinated children (who are always more healthy anyway!!) without a compensation scheme! It is unfair and unjust. Why are we not told about the huge numbers of vaccinated people and children who still contract the diseases against which they are supposed to be "protected"? I contracted osteosarcoma bone cancer as a direct result of the Salk and Sabin polio vaccines which were contaminated with monkey viruses - those antibodies are still in my system! Yes, and my trusting, uninformed parents thought they were doing the right thing by me!
