The establishment of national parks begins in America with Yellowstone National Park. This of them is to preserve the national estate in these areas as pristine wilderness areas. The current proposals in Queensland departs from this well established tradition and seeks to make them areas for exploitation for current needs. This is patently wrong and destroys their real purpose, Past generations of all Australians never intended this, they were apolitical about this. people from all political persuasions tought the same. The current government do not have any right to change this and we hope that they will step back from taking this step.
