Dear Health and Community Services Committee,

As a Parent, Pastor, Educator and children's author I am surprised and shocked that we don't already have a 'G' classification on all outdoor public advertising. I know such bans already exists for 'Sex' shop windows and the like, and such a situation is surely a misnomer.

With the increasing sexualisation of our children, younger and younger, having negative effects on them and society - www.exposedproject.org - leading to the sorts of outcomes we have seen recently in the military - <http://www.abc.net.au/lateline/content/2013/s3782468.htm> - we should be doing all we can to try to reverse these trends.

A 'G' rating on outdoor advertising would be one very easy and simple step in making this happen!
