To whom it may concern

As parents of 3 beautiful young boys we raise our deep concern regarding the current state of sexual content in outdoor advertising.

These adverts are not only degrading and offensive to the majority of women but they directly undermine and contradict our values.

The strength of society is directly dependent on the strength of family units.

We are endeavouring to raise Godly men who will be a strong foundation in their community and capable of mature and lasting relationships with their wives and children.

These inappropriate sexually orientated ads leave us with no safe public place to take our children to.

The result of these sexually explicit ads is destruction of innocence and they rob our children of the right and freedom to ultimately choose what is best for themselves when they are of an appropriate age to do so.

We urge you to make all outdoor advertising and shopfront content safe for everyone in society by ensuring it is G-rated.
