I would like to add my voice to those of the community who wish to have public advertising G rated. As a woman in my 50's with adult children, I find myself offended by some of the advertising, and am often grateful that I don't have small children to whom I am required to explain them. We are not able to control what we or our children see in the public spaces, because, unlike the television, we are unable to simply "turn it off". Adult content should be for those who choose it, not forced on those of us who don't. Thank you for the opportunity to participate in this debate.

Yours faithfully,

Cynthia Barker
