Dear Sir/Madam,

I have been concerned very much over a number of years at the growing amount of sexual imaging and messaging on advertising signage such as billboards. How can parents maintain the innocence of their children when what amounts to "passive" (as in "passive" smoking) pornography is right before their eyes, on streets as we drive past, at bus-stops and in shopping centres. Please, we want our outdoors and public spaces to be free of sexual imagery and messaging. I wholeheartedly support G-Rated Public Spaces.

Thanks,

Scott Farrell
