I'd like to state that I find our abortion to birth laws reprehensible and they should never have been brought in. Given that they're already part of law, I think it's barbaric that a significant number of babies actually survive abortions and are then left to die without care. Babies feel pain just like the rest of us and anyone who's been pregnant would understand this. I can hardly believe that a Doctor who promises to do no harm, could actually refuse to give even limited care to a baby that suffering so severely. The pain these babies experience is beyond comprehension and anyone who has even a limited conscience wouldn't dream of allowing this despicable practice to continue. Please allow these babies to receive acceptable care and pain relief if they're actually born alive. It's the very least that should have been included in the law
