It is incomprehensible that in today's age with Human Rights being touted everywhere, that little ones, who cannot even raise their voices, are being abcded. Should these little voiceless children survive the abortion process, they are left to die without being given any basic healthcare whatsoever. We are kinder to our animals than to our children.

It is a fundamental human responsibility to care for those who cannot do so themselves. Especially little babies, even if they have survived the abortion process. To not do so, is utterly contemptible and barbaric. To not show the simplest act of kindness and loving actions to these little ones, is really to show how cruel, self-serving and deluded we are. Any government and society that does not look after these little ones, shows their true colours...they do not really care for people, but rather love their own position and power. All of which have a time limit. Will you be known as a defender of little children, or will your name pabcd into oblivion, with countless thousands of cowardly self serving leaders.

So, I urge you to stand up today, for what we all know is right. Allow, these precious little lives to be given the decency of healthcare.

Hi,

My name is [REDACTED] and live in the South-East Queensland. I am a mother and value life. Every person, great or small, is precious.
