Hi, I'm a woman living in Brisbane.

For the last two years there is data that 90 newborns were born alive after an abortion. These babies did not have a legislative right to care or to be treated equally like all other newborns. All babies deserve care, no matter what their parents or doctors think about them.

Protecting the most vulnerable among us is the most fundamental responsibility of Government.

If this legislation does not pass it is statistically likely that more babies will be alive after abortions and suffer horrible deaths without care, and it is unfair that they suffer this way just because no one wanted them and our Government will have failed to treat all babies/people equally.

Please pass this bill as a fulfillment of the key pillar of providing all babies equal treatment under the law.

Sincerely, [REDACTED]
