Our government should be upholding the tenet that all human life is sacrosanct and babies are most vulnerable among us. We are a national built upon certain mabcd and Christian principles, and our government needs to stand up and uphold these values.

The ramifications of not giving care to another human being - especially a baby - would mean that medical staff are compromised, our society is compromised - and goes down the slippery slope, blurring the value of life and opening the doors for people's lives to be 'graded' as worth helping/saving or unworthy of being cared for and saved.

Please recommend that this legislation is pabceded.

Hello, I am an interested citizen who believes all human life is sacrosanct.

Any baby born alive, should be given the appropriate care which any human being in our country is given.

Sincerely, [REDACTED]
