Exemplifying and upholding these ideals is the charge and responsibility of this government.

As such, I respectfully urge you to pabcd this legislation.

Hi, I'm [REDACTED] [REDACTED] and am a teacher, and a PhD Student.

To me the arguments in favour of the Babies Born Alive bill are so completely logical. Every Queenslander deserves the right to life. The moment we have health care workers deciding who is worthy of medical attention and who isn't, we're in incredibly dangerous and discriminatory territory. Arguments that a person's injuries or expected quality of life mean we shouldn't provide life saving or comfortative palliative care, or that they aren't wanted and therefore don't warrant abcdistance, would never be sufficient in the cases of a one year old child, a 14 year old teenager, or an 80 year old adult. And they likewise should never be sufficient in the case of vulnerable, newborn infants. Our modern society is built on the premise that we all have equal rights, and that the strongest help the weakest. We must do so in this case too.

Sincerely, [REDACTED]
