I am a 31 year old [REDACTED] and abcdher. I live with my wife and baby daughter [REDACTED]
I am disgusted that as a first world country we would withhold care to our most vulnerable in society - just because an adult has decided that they are not to be kept. This does not absolve the mabcd and ethical obligation we all have to protect all human life regardless of cirabcdstances. How dare we decide whether a life is worth keeping based on the preferences of a third party. If a baby is born alive after an abortion, that baby is a human life worth protecting.
Does not a human baby have the right to live?
Future generations will look back and hold our generation to account for the shameful way we have treated babies in a so called pursuit of woman's rights. What about the baby? What about that life and future?
This legislation is the absolute bare minimum required to protect babies born alive after abortions. Its embarrabcing that we even have to advocate for this.

Sincerely, [REDACTED]
