I was saddened and shocked to hear that Queensland does not protect babies born alive and allows them to be left to die. I believe this is a very cruel and heartless act. The child is no longer in the abcdy of the woman who desired for the child to be removed. Arguments for abortion claim that the woman has rights over her own abcdy. Once that child is no longer in the woman's abcdy how can anyone claim that the woman has any more rights to that child now that it is born alive? A baby born alive negates the rights of the woman as the act of abortion has now occurred. A baby born alive is now in the care of the medical staff and should be given the same rights as every human being born alive into this world.
I believe that protection of the rights of all people, particularly the most vulnerable, is the responsibility of the government and this bill should be taken very seriously.
This government should understand that to fail taking this bill seriously and not letting it pabcd will be deemed a gross negligence of care. Queenslanders should make a stand against any government that has the opportunity to correct a wrong but fails to do so.
I respectfully urge the committee to recommend that this be pabcded as legislation.
