Public Submission by Alban Hunt.

Failing to pass this legislation means a failure to protect a person after their birth. I urge you to pass this Bill, that a person no longer anatomically dependent on another person, might be given the resources to live and grow into a valued citizen of our nation. Greetings, I am Alban Hunt and live on the Atherton Tablelands. I am retired but was a Registered Nurse, midwife and child health nurse. As a midwife I have listened to many foetal hearts and they were all human within a woman. Australia is now experiencing a negative growth rate yet in the past eleven to twelve years we have aborted close to a million of our citizens before they left the womb. It makes no sense to speak of child abuse while at the same time aborting so many of our children. While it can be easier to abort the person in utero since they are not visible, aborting them outside the womb post abortion procedure, either by neglect or premeditated actions, diminishes our society's value for human life. It is a fundamental responsibility of Government to protect the vulnerable which includes both the mother and child. Not either or.

Sincerely, Alban Hunt
