According to known statistics, 90 babies have suffered death in such a way in 2020 and 2021 in Qld hospitals. Imagine if we were to leave victims of car accidents on the road side to die, or elderly people to die in their own homes without trying to care for them. This is an inhuman response. If the people of Qld, or in fact Australia, knew the facts about these babies, there would be an outcry. These are living breathing babies. Puppies would be given more care than this.

Please consider the value you place on human life and act accordingly. Legislation can be brought in to protect the mother and also protect the baby that has been born.

Hi, I am [REDACTED] and [REDACTED].

Babies who are born alive after an abortion should be treated with the same care that any other baby / child / adult is enabled to. It is hypocritical of our health system and our society to provide the best of possible care to babies who are born many weeks premature and then to ignore and fail to provide care to babies who are born alive.

Our society has rightly made advances in the protection of cruelty to animals and yet we leave babies unattended, in hospitals dying without any care or respect for the value of human life.

We are a democratic society based on values of mutual respect and governments are formed to protect the financial, education, health and well being of all citizens. This is what sets us apart from societies that have no value or respect for human life, that trade people into slavery, that lock people into concentration camps and take away their liberties. We decry this appalling behaviour and yet we leave our most vulnerable to die a tormented and awful death.

Sincerely, [REDACTED]
