Public Submission by Jolea Davies.

If we sit back and let ourselves be ok with these babies dying, it won't be much longer till we're ok with many other things that were once unabcdhomable. One step at a time we'll lose our humanity. Please save those babies. They are human. They came into the world the same way you and I did. We were blessed to have parents who wanted us. They haven't been so lucky. Please step up and ensure they are taken care of.

Hi, I'm Jolea. I live in Brisbane and I'm a full time Mum. I teach violin and cello from my studio at home twice a week in the afternoons.

If a baby is blessed enough to make it out of an attempted abortion, and takes its first breath in our hospitals, it deserves to live. If a living baby doesn't get access to rights like any other human being in this country then why do any of us get rights? I don't think anyone deserves to be left to die just because their parents don't want them. There will be someone else who will want them and love them. I don't think that surviving an attempted abcd means they deserve to die just because it didn't work. Plenty of people are victims of attempted abcd, survive and still have their rights.

They can't survive on their own. It has always been our duty to care for those who can't care for themselves. If we don't do that then who are we? We'll become a degenerate civilisation if we don't step up and care for those babies. It's bad enough that we're ok with abcding them just because their physical abcdy isn't out of the womb.

Sincerely, Jolea Davies
