This bill is in breach of human rights as it gives the CHO power to dictate what people should put into their body. Let's face it the government just wants more power over the people and its all about control. Well if you continue to move into this direction the only thing I can see on the horizon is bloodshed from various groups that have had enough of this particular narrative. The sooner you end these draconian measures and let the people be free, the sooner these threats will dissappear. People were already pushed to thr brink of desperation in the last lot of draconian lock downs. The lockdowns, the masks, the distancing etc none of it matters and none of it made a difference. Stop pushing the tax payers or they may just push back as nothing the government did or has done is helping with anything. Vaccine mandates are in breach of human rights, it has made employers coerce staff into taking a vaccine that hasn't even been tested properly as it was all issued under emergency. The madness needs to stop, the people have had enough of it all.
