As a healthy 71 year old I love life. However if I end up being incapable I would hate it, I would hate not being able to control my life.

I would hate to be a burden on :-

My loved ones

The aged care system

The hospital system

The taxpayer

I would strongly desire the ability to make decisions prior to incapacity that would allow me to be humanely euthanised. The ability of medical science given the incredible changes brought about by technology, science and pharmaceuticals prolong life should no longer be at any cost but be able to recognise the wishes of individuals in the final stages of their life. Please listen to the wishes of ordinary Queenslanders.
