Submitter Comments:

I wholeheartedly support the Voluntary Assisted Dying Bill and believe everyone should have a choice to die with dignity. I am not religious but I accept all people who are and I do not force my beliefs on them. Members of Parliament are representing all Australians and I do not have any friends who disagree with this bill. A small religious minority should not have the power to control the lives of people desperate to end their suffering. The word Voluntary is so important as most people will never need help to end their suffering but what a gift it will be to those who do. Please give the power back to the people as we can be trusted to make the right choice for ourselves.
