Submitter Comments:

I believe it is entirely humane and ethical that this Voluntary Assisted Dying legislation proceeds as written.

The option of eligibility for those who select VAD whilst mentally competent and progress to incompetence needs to be considered but its discussion must not delay the implementation of this current legislation.

This legislation would enable choice for those who need it but does not enable any but the eligible sufferer to make that choice.

This legislation would relieve trauma and suffering. It is time to join the ranks of ethical humanity.
