Submitter Comments:

Every responsible person should have the RIGHT to decide if they want to have voluntary assisted dying if the ageing process or ill health is making life too difficult for them to enjoy and they are suffering every day.

I do not wish to endure losing control of my mind or body and suffer a degrading and awful slow death.

Also I do not want to be pumped full of drugs and kept barely conscious to ease a doctors state of mind and wallet.

I have seen residents at Aged Care facilities lying there on a trolley all day and barely conscious. That is not living.

It is time to show some compassion for those in need.
