Subject: Dying with Dignity

I believe people in pain and suffering whose quality of life is unacceptable have the right to a gentle exit from it. I watched my mother with advanced dementia literally rot before my eyes. All her fingernails and toenails slowly fell off and her body wasted away. If she had been a dog my family would have been done for animal cruelty. It's important because no one facing the inevitable should be forced to suffer needlessly if they don't want to.
