I have heard many who are against these laws saying that we are playing at being God should we pass them.

I whole heartedly disagree. If you are suffering from a terminal illness then in my belief, God has decided it is time for you to go. I don't know why and nor does any person, however it has been decided. Should you use the VAD option, then the only choice you have made is to die in peace and with dignity. Even with VAD, not everyone will get that option. The God that I love would ever prevent someone from dying in a peaceful way if they are privileged and able to make such a decision.
