I watched my mother die a horrible death. Alzheimers disease.
It was a long goodbye over 10 years. But the last month it was almost unbearable to see her reduced state as a human being. She finally had enough nouse to refuse all food, water and medication. I don't know where that strength came from. It took her 8 days to die. It was the single most painful thing I have experienced in my life. God knows what it was like for her.
