I'm not sure which side of the fence you sit on about this croc culling "conservation" bill but I can't imagine anyone would be stupid to believe that this has anything to do with the safety of humans and nothing to do with the money certain, greedy politicians will make from croc farming and hunting.

What's the bet that [REDACTED] Kater and ehomever, that [REDACTED] that reckons crime is up due to our youths not being able to swim in the waterways (like that [REDACTED] knows about swimming) hasn't invested in this...

Stop letting politicians make Australia unaustralian! Only the dumb can't see that it's only the dumb that back this.

Go through social media comments and look at the value of perspective given by those defending our crocs and those that want them dead.

You'll see a significant imbalance of intellect. Don't be one of the dumb ones... there's already too many in parliament.

Leave our crocs alone and fine those who play stupid games in croc inhabited areas.

This country has already taken too many blows to it's pride. Don't let us lose one of the last things we have that makes Australia the country it is/was
