TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Please consider this submission into the "Fly in, fly out and other long distance commuting work practices in regional Queensland" inquiry.

I have lived in mining communities paying too much for everything you get! Getting robbed by local business men and women. I now live in Brisbane and have been FIFO for more than 5 years. I and my family think it is great. We have a great lifestyle thanks to even time roster and FIFO. There are plenty of jobs for the local miners and only a small percentage of FIFO positions.

Only concerns that some politician is going to try and tell me what is good for me and my family.

Long distance driving is very dangerous if the person is not responsible enough to manage their own fatigue. It should not be up to the employers to manage people's stupidity!

Regards

Daniel Smyth
