As per your below email please note below Shanes response to the Question on Notice about the number of crocodile farms currently operating in Queensland, and their location:

Crocodile farming

Under the Nature Conservation Act 1992 (Qld), a wildlife farming licence is required to keep, breed and use butterflies, crocodiles, emus, venomous snakes, and water buffalos in Queensland.

A person with a wildlife farming licence is also required to comply with codes of practice adopted under the Nature Conservation Act, including in the Code of Practice on the humane treatment of wild and farmed Australian crocodiles.

There is also the Repealed Code of practice for Crocodile farming, which remains available for authorities issued prior to 1 September 2017.

In addition to codes of practice, the Queensland Department of Environment and Heritage Protection (EHP) notes that the Crocodile Farming Compliance Plan 2016 (Compliance Plan) may be used by farms as a guide, though it is intended as an internal departmental document.

The Compliance Plan contains details of licenced crocodile farming facilities in Queensland, including locations.

A Crocodile Farm Compliance Checklist is used by EHP departmental officers for inspections.

List of registered farms

Table 1 displays details of currently licenced crocodile farming facilities in Queensland, including the permit number, company name and company address. There are currently 10 licenced facilities in Queensland.
