I completely disagree with adult crime adult time, it's proven time and time again that rehabilitation is the much more effective way to get different outcomes for kids, NOT adult punishment. In fact changing the broken systems is what really makes a difference for these kids, and the wider community.

I appreciate that rehabilitation is included but these kids do not need adult punishment. They're kids, their brains haven't even fully developed. And of course the fact that indigenous kids are even more likely to be punished, often unfairly. I believe that this bill is the absolute wrong way to approach these issues and simply would like that to be known, so that I can be one extra voice in stating the unfairness of this.
