People who have been to prison are still Australian Citizens and deserve the right to vote on things that affect them as a citizen.

We have a nation-wide housing crisis. Allowing property developers to donate to State Government would compromise the a Government's ability to deal with this issue by having citizens' best interests at the forefront of their decisions. Political donations should be banned entirely.

Loans should not be permitted for political advertisement spending. Non residential addresses should not be targeted. Leave people alone.

The Electoral Commission of Queensland should oversee all ballots to ensure transparency
