I am a law abiding citizen who is a Legal firearm owner and have been around firearms for most of my life. Firearms to me and my family are part of our culture our fun, our hobby, our passion, a tool used for gathering free range food and protecting our livestock as hobby farmers. I believe the laws as they stand are more than adequate and already have much red tape. But i also believe the new laws are a step in the right direction. And dont really effect the most of the legal firearm owners . Its great to see real leadership by the QLD premier and his government instead of knee jerk reactions which would only punish the legal firearm owners, like the other states have which will not fix the problem. Thank you for your time.
