I think all changes outlined in this bill will be effective against anyone doing the incorrect things / breaking the law. The changes proposed in this bill will not directly affect many legal firearms license holders in Queensland, the only major negative effect will be that a percent of shooters will have to invest in alternative safe firearms storage because they do not have an exclusively "solid steel" gun safe. I strongly believe that David Crisafulli has taken the correct measures to make sure Queensland is safer by strengthen penalties for criminals and introducing new measures to intervene with a terrorist attack before it is carried out all while not taking away the rights or privileges of people living in Queensland.
