To the Committee,

I would like to say thankyou to the Premier and his government for the common sense approach to their response to the bondi tradgedy. It is actually very refreshing to actually see government focusing on cause rather than smoke screens, misdirection and subversive actions to further other political agendas.

I encourage the government to keep focusing on the real facts and causes. I encourage the government to continue to implement changes that will actually make the community safer. I firmly believe that the new laws the federal labor government and other states labor governments are introducing do not make any real difference to those that are not law abiding. All they do is punish law abiding gun owners. Those committing crimes and acts of terror will not abide by those laws. By their nature they are not law abidng. Where as the law abiding gun owner community have been and will continue to be compliant with the law.

I request the governmet completely resist further restrictions to the lawful gun owning community and to continue focusing on the real causes of crime and terror.

Kind regards

James Mckenzie
