To Whom it may concern

I am 50 years of age and have access to Firearms my entire Life,

I have never had an incident involving a fire arm

I now sports shoot hunt and assist farmers with feral animal control

I do not think that licensed firearms holders are an issue in Australia especially Queensland it is a issue with people with hate in their hearts for others

I have through the recent pushed federal gun reforms and speaking with my neighbors discovered that many of them in fact have firearms stored at there homes and it gives me comfort that my neighbors are like minded

I think that David Chrisafollys reforms are enough if anything has to be changed

Sadly guns are seen as dangerous when if somebody wants to cause harm and fear there is many other ways and means as we see in other country's

Evil is evil and they will still commit atrocities if they want too and no amount of legislation restrictions or banning fire arms will stop them

In closing I do not believe punishing licensed legal fire arms holders will accomplish anything

Yours Truly
