No child deserves to go to jail This is blatant abuse, and a violation of a child's rights.

How does society benefit by locking up a child ? It doesn't- it recreates a systemic cycle of incarceration. what society would do this to their children? Why not help rather than harm! This totally baffles me and makes no sense. Children belong in classrooms & support programs not jail! There are stable proven solutions. The government can & must focus on indigenous community led support programs that address root causes of trauma and disadvantage rather than dismiss a young human beings existence. I advocate for a National Australian solidarity of raising the age of incarceration within the constitution of child human rights of the UN, and the national government subsidising community led programs to support and help our children, our future adults to make this world an amazing supportive and flourishing place.
