Submitter Comments:

The laws in this country regarding any form of sexual abuse are sub par and do not align with current statistics, psychology or science. Reality is, this crime is at epidemic proportions through every area and stage of life, starting at childhood and without legal changes there cannot be cultural changes. It's time to stop giving convicted criminals of this nature any leeway because that's effectively supporting, aiding and abetting them in their actions and should be made a crime in itself.
