Comments : Research Director Legal Affairs & Community Safety Committee I object to proposed legislation changes that will allow a privileged few to escape their obligations to pay their fair share of Body Corporate fees. The principles of size, height, additional or exclusive facilities access has always determined fee allotment. A well connected few were able to obtain out of the norm exemptions via Queensland Gov legislation. A review by Government recognized the inequity that the changes had imposed and new legislation allowed owners to revert to the original allotment formulae. It is with horror that I now see the new Newman Government is looking to re-introduce this inequity formula with little or no community consultation – almost like a thief in the night! Only where 100% of owners seek exemption from the norm can any variation from the principles be considered. Please voice my concerns at the highest level via the very democratic mechanism available.
